

Frank P. Doherty

Chief Executive Officer & Managing Partner

National Benefit Partners

Frank Doherty is a Managing Partner and the CEO of National Benefit Partners (NBP), and a Managing Partner of parent company U.S. Employee Benefits Services Group. He brings broad experience to the benefits market on a national basis, and has a successful track record in distribution management, marketing support, product design, and agency resources.

Prior to forming a benefits distribution company in 1994, Frank spent 20 years with Colonial Life & Accident in sales and management roles. Leaving Colonial as Vice President of Sales Development in 1989, he joined The Copeland Companies as Sr. Vice President and then President of Copeland Retirement Services.

In 1995, he formed Frank Doherty & Associates (FD&A), building a national reputation for distribution acquisition and management. Expanding the scope of FD&A in 2005, Frank co-founded National Benefit Partners with his partner, Dan Jund. With more than 55 Allied Distributors, NBP is the leading IMO in the voluntary benefits market throughout the country.

Mr. Doherty has held past Board positions with Spectera Vision, Inc. and Vision Financial, Inc. He is a past member of VEEB, MI2, as well as a member of several insurance company advisory boards. He is also a founding member of The Benefits Advisory Council. In 2016, Frank was inducted into the Worksite Hall of Fame.

Frank is a graduate of Wheeling Jesuit University with a BA in Psychology, and a graduate of the Purdue University Insurance Institute. He also held the NASD Registered Principal designation from 1990 through 1995. He and his wife live in Berwyn, Pennsylvania, a suburb of Philadelphia. He enjoys traveling and spending time with his children and grandchildren.
